BRYAN, YIELDING TO VILLA, AIDS SLAYERS

At Request of Mexican Leader, Secretary Asks Suspension of Legal Processes in Arizona—Carranza's Seizure of Corn Worries United States Officials.

At the request of Francisco Villa, the Mexican military leader held responsible for the deaths of many Americans at the hands of forces supposedly under his control, Secretary of State Bryan yesterday took steps looking to the overturning of the legal processes of the courts and government of the State of Arizona.

At Gen. Villa's request, Mr. Bryan is now attempting to prevent the execution of the death sentence passed upon five Mexicans, charged with and convicted of the crime of murder in Arizona.

At Villa's request, Mr. Bryan some days ago inquired of Gov. Hunt of Arizona if it was true as Villa informed him that the five Mexicans were to be executed today, and asking for some report of the cases.

In response to this inquiry, Gov. Hunt replied that the Mexicans were to be executed today, and gave briefly the circumstances in each case.

Pursuant to Villa's request, Mr. Bryan then sent a message to Gov. Hunt asking that the cases be brought before the Arizona board of pardons, with the suggestion that the sentence of the Mexicans be commuted to life imprisonment.

Mr. Bryan further asked that in any event the execution be delayed until there could be further investigation.

In explanation of these rather unusual steps on the part of the Secretary of State, in the face of the fact that the cases of all the Mexicans were considered in the regular processes of the Arizona courts, Mr. Bryan said that it developed after Villa had called his attention to the situation, that Gov. Hunt was opposed to the death penalty in Arizona.

When asked if it was not true that the issue in these cases had figured in the last election in Arizona, Mr. Bryan said that the death penalty in Arizona was upheld in an election in which only 2,000 out of 15,000 votes were cast for it.

Officials of the State Department expressed some feeling yesterday upon the receipt from the Brazilian Minister in Mexico City of the complaint from the international committee that Carranza officials had seized for military use 600 tons of corn shipped into Mexico for the relief of the civil population of the capital.

Last night advice was received in Washington that the food situation in Mexico is becoming more desperate, and fear is expressed that riotous and disorderly acts will result.

This assumption is based upon a dispatch received at the Carranza agency here, which stated that Gen. Guibela had established headquarters at Puebla in connection with his campaign to reconquer Mexico City. The dispatch added that quantities of food were being taken from the relief of the city.

The State Department yesterday instructed Consul Stillman at Vera Cruz to make inquiries as to Carranza's relative to the seizure of the corn by the Carrancistas.

State Department officials said yesterday that the report of victory of Gen. Villa over Gen. Obregon, in fighting at and around Leon, is premature, to say the least.

The Department is informed that the opposing armies rested after severe fighting and that Villa's forces apparently had the advantage. The battle at Leon is understood to have been resumed Wednesday. This engagement may decide the military mastery in Mexico at least for a time.

CALLS FINANCE CONGRESS
CHIEF EVENT SINCE 1823

Barrett Says Pan-American Conference Has Been Eclipsed In Historical Importance Only By the Monroe Doctrine

The Pan-American Financial Conference now in session here is the most important historical event for the Western Hemisphere since the declaration of the Monroe doctrine in 1823, in the opinion of the Pan-American Union.

Out of it, he predicts, will come an awakening of the commercial, civic and social spirit of the hemisphere and colleges, the rank and file of business men, and the masses of people in general of every American republic to a realization of the meaning of Pan-American solidarity and of the common interests, purposes, and hopes of the sister nations of the hemisphere.

"If such an attitude of Pan-American thought shall be the result of this conference," declared Mr. Barrett yesterday, "the Pan-American point of view, and the understanding which it initiates, will be a direct result of this gathering will determine its position in the history of Pan-American conferences."

Mr. Barrett emphasized that the tangible and visible fruits of the conference may be a year or two in appearing, and he urged the necessity of the peoples of the Western Hemisphere keeping fresh in their minds this new-born feeling of Pan-American solidarity.

"This gathering," he said, "is the inevitable climax of a great present-day Pan-American movement which is the natural and logical evolution of the world conditions of the hour. The whole Western Hemisphere is in sympathy with the gathering which it initiates, and it is watching it. Its results will not alone affect America, but also Europe and even Asia. It is not in any sense a purely American movement, but the Old World, and yet the Old World largely is responsible for it."

"If there is a silver lining to the war cloud, it is the development of the Pan-American solidarity. No great thing is accomplished by the United States alone."
